

Nucamp React Native Course
React Native Portfolio Project Initial Report
John Gale

Project Overview

This project is a React Native prototype application for a startup business, Japanese Language Room (JLR), that will offer in-person Japanese language classes in Murfreesboro and Franklin, TN. The app will need to have basic information about the language classes with the functionalities of student registration and payment processing.

1. How your project will benefit from React Native

This application will allow students to manage their class progress from the convenience of a mobile app.

2. Expected List of React Components

All the core components listed on the React Native website for basic functionality:

<https://reactnative.dev/docs/components-and-apis>

3. Team responsibilities

John Gale – Code and design

Javin Stone – Graphic design and layouts (not a Nucamp student)
